“Where Hope Begins”

Thank you for contacting LS & ESSI., Inc.,

We are happy to hear from you and hope we can help you. We are a group of lightning strike and electric shock survivors their families, medical and legal and scientific professionals as well as other interested individuals. Within the organization we have a unique understanding of the issues surrounding the danger of these injuries and recovery from them. We want to be “Where Hope Begins” for you and your family. Our members volunteer to help others and share their experiences, stories and knowledge. We hope this knowledge pool can help you on your way to understanding what has happened to you and how to regain your piece of mind.

LS&ESSI, Inc. is a non-profit, 501C3 organization registered in the state of North Carolina. We boast of being the only organization of this type in the universe. We hold an annual 3 day conference for Survivors, family, friends and other interested parties in spring each year. Please see our website: www.lightning-strike.org for more details and information on this year’s conference.

Enclosed/ attached you will find several organizational brochures which will give you a brief synopsis of what we are all about. One brochure contains membership information. (No individual or family will be denied membership due to the inability to pay dues; however, if you are in a position to pay annual dues we appreciate you doing so.) An order form is also enclosed for publications and general store items. The organization has published over a dozen books and booklets regarding lightning strike and electric shock injuries.

The organization will be happy to provide you with information about members in your area of the country once you have joined, and providing the people in your area have signed the release form. We have an extensive support network, which works very well given that most LS and ES survivors do not live close to others injured in the same manner. Please let home office know if you wish additional information; i.e.-supporting documents about LS and ES injuries, we will be happy to furnish them upon request. If you are using a computer please print the documents fill them out and send them to home office at the address above.

As always, I remain,

Steve Marshburn, Sr.
